

The Food Action Network and One Straw Society are jointly presenting a Seed Saving Workshop with local seedswomen on Sunday, November 21, 2010 from 10 am to 2 pm. This event will feature Robin Wheeler from Edible Landscapes; Maria Hunter of Dragonfly Seeds, and Mojave Kaplan from the Planting Seeds Project.

In the morning, workshop participants will learn about seed saving basics and take part in some hands-on basic seed cleaning. After lunch there will be a discussion of seed politics and the Sunshine Coast seed collective, and a facilitated Q&A for all things seeds. Sunshine Coast residents are invited to bring your ideas and questions to share, and take away some new ideas, resources, and seeds to plant, trade and share.

This workshop will be held in the conference room of the Sunshine Coast Community Services Society at 5638 Inlet Road, Sechelt. There is a $30 suggested donation, spaces are limited. Refreshments will be provided, but bring your own lunch.
